school teacher who was before the grand jusy on March 12, charged with falsifying accounts while manager of the Farmers' Mercantile company at Hoytsville, but who was discharged by a unanimous vote of the inquisitors, will file a $10,000 damage suit against her alleged persecutors in the Third district court foday, upon the grounds that she was maliciously prosecuted. Larcy Holt and five other interested parties residing at or near Coalville are the defendants in the case. It will be remembered that Miss Chase was manager of the institution and in some way the business ran behind. The stockholetes discovered the situation and in some way the business ran behind. The stockholetes discovered the situation and in some way the business ran behind. The stockholetes discovered the situation and immediately set the machinery of criminal law into motion. Miss chase was first arrested on the charge of obtaining goods by faise pretenses and next for emberzlement, but she was discharged in both instances. Then came the third charge, which was that of falsifying accounts, and she was held to the grand jury with the result above stated. Now the lady feels that her time has come, and she proposes to give her oppressors a taste of their own medicine. Jones & Schroeder are the plaintiff's atterneys.
